STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, April 5, 1913.

To the Assembly:

I return herewith, without my approval, Assembly bill Printed No. 1798, entitled "An act to amend the Legislative Law, in relation to compensation for appearances in legislative matters."

This bill is now before me for the second time, having been recalled at my suggestion.

The bill is still defective in form and substance and, if enacted into law, would not only create an anomaly in regard to the enactment of certain laws, but would cause great confusion in regard to the legislative method of enacting and publishing such measures after their passage. The bill in part prescribes: "Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as affecting or relating to any legislative measure or measures providing for relief from the cost of any public park, street opening or widening, in any proceeding instituted by any local authority."

The "chapter" referred to is the Legislative Law (chap. 37, Laws of 1909). The language of the proposed bill, above quoted, in effect repeals article three of said chapter which relates to "enactment and publication of laws."

The measure refers to a large class of special bills that are introduced at every session of the Legislature providing for cancellation or refund of assessments levied upon property for the cost of local improvements.

The portion of the bill above referred to would have the following effect upon such bills and their treatment in the Legislature.

1. Upon their passage, they would not require the certificate of the presiding officer, under section 40 of the Legislative Law.

2. There would be no provision as to evidence of when such bills become a law, since section 41 of the Legislative Law, relating to this subject would not apply to them.

3. There would be no requirement for the deposit of such bills upon their becoming a law, with the Secretary of State, and his certifying them and causing them to be published in the bound volumes of the Session Laws, as provided in section 42 of the Legislative Law.

4. The provision of section 43 of the Legislative Law, that bills which do not prescribe the time of their taking effect shall, if they become law, take effect on the twentieth day thereafter, would not apply to such special assessment bills.

5. Publication of such special assessment laws in newspapers would not be required as provided in section 48 of the Legislative Law.

Aside from the technical defects above enumerated, the purpose and object of the bill is contrary to sound public policy.

This bill would legalize a method on the part of lobbyists and their employers in promoting special assessment bills, which method if used in promoting any other kind of bills, would be a criminal act under section 66 of the Legislative Law.

The bill would permit those interested in special assessment legislation to keep secret all facts regarding the amount and character of their expenses in securing the passage of such legislation, although all persons expending money to secure the passage of any other kind of legislation must file with the Secretary of State, an account of such expenditures.

This is so for the following reasons:

1. The persons who employ such legislative agents and legislative counsel for the purpose of securing the passage of such special assessment bills would not be required as others who employ legislative agents are required under section 66 of the Legislative Law, to file statements of their expenses in connection with securing the passage of the bills.

2. It would not be unlawful to employ a person to promote such bills for compensation contingent upon the passage of the bills. It would not be unlawful for a legislative agent or counsel to accept such a contingent retainer to secure the passage of such special assessment bills. The retaining of a lobbyist to promote the passage of any bill upon such a contingent retainer is now made a misdemeanor by section 66 of the Legislative Law.

I deem that no sufficient reason has been advanced why lobbyists and their employers interested in promoting special assessment bills should thus be permitted to use methods that it is criminal for other lobbyists and their employers to use. The public policy back of the provisions of the Legislative Law against the use of such methods applies with as much force in the case of lobbying for special assessment bills as in the case of lobbying for any other bill.

This bill has met with serious objection from the Bar Association of the city of New York and the Citizens Union of the city of New York.

For the reasons above stated, I disapprove the bill.

WM. SULZER.

On motion of Mr. Greenberg, said message together with said bill was ordered laid upon the table.

A message from the Governor by the hand of his secretary was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,
ALBANY, April 7, 1913.

To the Legislature:

On the third instant the Attorney-General wrote me a letter regarding the diversion of the waters of the Niagara river for hydro-electric power, which is as follows:

"STATE OF NEW YORK — OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL,
"ALBANY, April 3, 1913.

"To His Excellency, Governor Sulzer, Albany, N. Y.:

"MY DEAR GOVERNOR SULZER.—I believe that the situation in respect to the diversion and use of the waters from Niagara river for hydro-electric power, as at present permitted, should receive the prompt attention of the Legislature of the State of New York.

"The title to the center of Niagara river, both in the bed of the stream and in the waters that pass over it, is in the State of New York, subject to such rights as individual riparian owners may have, and subject also to Federal control in the interests of commerce, and for the purpose of protecting the navigability of the stream.

"I believe that Federal control under the Constitution is limited to these two purposes, and that the Federal government has not power to regulate the diversion of water for power purposes, or for any purpose other than that expressly given it in the Federal Constitution.

"On January 11, 1909, the United States government and Great Britain entered into a treaty for the purpose of regulating the diversion of water from the Niagara river, which treaty permitted a diversion not to exceed twenty thousand cubic feet per second on the American side of the river. The Federal government, pursuant to the terms of this treaty, enacted a law known as the Burton Act, which prohibited a diversion in excess of fifteen thousand six hundred cubic feet per second, and which empowered the Secretary of War to issue permits under the limitations of this act for the use of the waters of the river for power purposes. Pursuant to this power, the Secretary of War issued a permit to the Niagara Falls Power Company and to the Hydraulic Power Company of Niagara Falls, permitting the former to divert eight thousand six hundred cubic feet per second, and the latter, six thousand five hundred cubic feet per second; aggregating a total of fifteen thousand one hundred cubic feet per second, or five hundred cubic feet per second less than the diversion permitted by the Burton Act.

“The State of New York has, during the past two years vigorously opposed the principle of Federal control as embodied in the Burton Act, and was represented before the committee on foreign affairs in congress repeatedly in opposition to the extension of that act, which expired on March 4, 1913; since which time there has been no Federal control of the diversion of the waters of Niagara river, unless the permits issued under the Burton Act are still valid, which I do not believe.

“An investigation of this matter was made by Colonel Lucas, employed as consulting engineer by the Canal Board. I have his report before me, which is to the effect that since the expiration of the Burton Act the Niagara Falls Power Company has been using about ten thousand five hundred cubic feet of water per second, and the Hydraulic Power Company of Niagara Falls about nine thousand five hundred cubic feet per second, or a total diversion of twenty thousand cubic feet per second, being the total amount permitted to be diverted from the river by the treaty between this country and Great Britain.

“The report of Colonel Lucas as to the amount now being diverted is based upon admissions of the officers of the companies.

“I submit for your consideration a brief memorandum of the facts and a discussion of the law applicable thereto, as I understand it.

“THE HYDRAULIC POWER COMPANY OF NIAGARA FALLS.

“The Hydraulic Power Company takes water from the river and conducts it by a canal fourteen by one hundred feet, through the city of Niagara Falls for a distance of about one mile to its power plant, dropping the water in penstocks to the turbines below, securing a head of about two hundred and twelve feet.

“I believe this diversion can not be legally made as a riparian owner. As such owner the company may have the right to use the water in front of its property for power or other purposes. But I do not think the right, if it exists, justifies the diversion of the water from the river as it is diverted by the canal used by the company, notwithstanding the fact that the water is returned to the river below the plant of the company.

“In addition to its riparian rights, however, this company secured from the Legislature in 1896 (chapter 968) an act, recognizing and confirming the right of the company to take, draw, use and lease and sell to others the waters of Niagara river for domestic, municipal, manufacturing, fire and sanitary purposes, and also to develop powers therefrom for its own use; and to lease and sell to others to use for manufacturing, heating, lighting and other business purposes, the quantity being limited and restricted to such amounts of water as may be drawn by means of the hydraulic canal of said company, which canal is limited to a width of one hundred feet and to a depth and slope sufficient to carry at all times a maximum uniform depth of fourteen feet of water. This act, however, provides that the rights therein granted and conferred shall not impair the practical navigation of Niagara river. This act recognizes an existing right, but limits its exercise. It does not in express terms, undertake to grant any right or powers to the company in addition to those theretofore appurtenant and exercised as riparian owner.

“I believe, therefore, that whatever rights the company now has to divert water from the Niagara river, without passing upon the validity, at this time, of the permits issued by the Secretary of War under the Burton Act, must be justified by its riparian ownership, and not by any grant from the Legislature.

“NIAGARA FALLS POWER COMPANY.

“This company takes water from the river at a point south of the intake of the Hydraulic Company, and conducts it by a surface canal to its power plant, which lies a hundred feet or thereabouts, east of the river, dropping the water by penstocks about one hundred and thirty-six feet into the turbines, whence it is discharged below the falls by a subterranean tunnel running under the city of Niagara Falls.

“This company has, from time to time, received from the Legislature grants which, if valid, are sufficient to authorize it to take water from the river for power purposes, and to generate power in the shape of electricity or otherwise. I am informed, however, that this company asserts its right to the diversion of these waters as riparian owner. The grant from the Legislature, chapter 513 of the Laws of 1892, limits the diversion of water to such an amount as shall be sufficient to produce two hundred thousand effective horse power. The act also provides that the grant thereby made, as well as any former grant, shall not be considered as conferring an exclusive right, or any right to infringe upon the State Reservation, nor the right to obstruct navigation in the Niagara river.

"As regards the company's riparian rights, I am of the opinion that this would not justify the diversion of the water out of the bed of the river to the distance that it is now diverted, notwithstanding the fact that it is afterwards returned to the river. The company must, therefore, be prepared to justify its use of the water under the Legislative grants mentioned and under the permits issued by the Secretary of War. Inasmuch as the Burton Act has expired, under which the permits of the Secretary of War have been issued, I am not prepared to say that these permits have any further validity or that any diversion of water from the river can be justified under these permits.

"Neither company pays the State any revenue. In this connection it is important to observe that the Canadian companies, for diversion of the water from the Canadian side of the river, pay the following rentals:

"$1.50 for each horse power up to twenty thousand;

"$1.00 for the next ten thousand horse power;

"$0.75 for the next ten thousand horse power;

"$0.50 for every horse power thereafter.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

"I believe it to be incumbent upon the State of New York to act promptly with a view to protecting the scenic grandeur of the Niagara river and its navigability. This the State may do in its sovereign right and capacity; and this the State should do in view of the fact that the Burton Act has expired and that express Federal control over the diversion of waters from the river has thereby ceased.

"I believe it to be the duty of the State to recognize the provisions of the treaty between this country and Great Britain, which prohibits the diversion on the American side of the river exceeding twenty thousand cubic feet per second. It is, indeed, probable that the limitation should be restricted to that established by the Federal government in the Burton Act, namely to fifteen thousand six hundred cubic feet per second. At least, no diversion should be permitted; I believe, beyond that amount until a thorough examination of the matter indicates that the beauty of the falls would not be impaired by a diversion of a larger quantity of water.

"Whether or not the companies at present using the waters of the Niagara river without compensation may be restrained from so doing, or whether or not the franchises heretofore granted by

"It may not be wise for the State at this time to take any action that would adversely affect the property interests that have been acquired under the permits heretofore granted. In view of the fact, however, that these companies have received these enormous benefits without compensation, I suggest the advisability of imposing a special franchise tax upon the franchises received, or upon the profits of the companies, until such time as the State shall have adopted a policy of dealing with the surplus waters of navigable streams.

(Signed) THOMAS CARMODY,
"Attorney-General."

The State of New York is committed to the policy of conserving all of its natural resources, and particularly of developing its vast waterpowers so that they can be utilized for the benefit of all the people.

WM. SULZER.

A message from the Governor, by the hand of his secretary, was received and read, in the words following:

STATE OF NEW YORK — EXECUTIVE CHAMBER,

ALBANY, April 10, 1913.

To the Legislature:

As the legislative session is drawing to a close, I deem it my duty, in the interest of the general welfare, to again call your attention to the insistent demand of the people throughout the State for a reform of the election laws; for a more simple and shorter ballot; and for direct State-wide primaries.

To that end I renew my recommendations that the Legislature take up these very important questions without further delay and pass bills ere the adjournment for their accomplishment.

The Democratic party in convention assembled, at Syracuse, adopted the following plank as a part of its platform.

"We favor the amendment of existing election laws wherever experience has demonstrated that changes are necessary to improve their effective operation and to decrease the expense of elections; and in particular to facilitate the making of independent nominations.

"We condemn the Republican Assembly of 1912 for refusing to join the Democratic Senate in passing the Loomis bill which reduced the expense of elections by decreasing the number of days of registration and lowering the salaries of election officials.

"The Democratic party was the first to recognize the demand for a State-wide direct primary and so declared in the Rochester platform of 1910 and the Democratic Legislature of 1911 despite Republican opposition enacted the first State-wide direct primary law in the history of the State. We again declare in favor of the principle of the direct primary and we pledge our Legislature to adopt such amendments to the existing laws as will simplify and perfect the direct primary system."

The Progressive party in its convention, last year, adopted the following plank as a part of its platform:

"We pledge the enactment of a real direct primary law applicable to every elective office and a Presidential preference primary law."

The Republican party in its convention, last year, adopted the following plank as a part of its platform:

"We favor the short ballot, surrounding primary elections with the same safeguards as regular elections, the direct election of party committees, the direct nomination of party candidates in congressional, senatorial, Assembly, county and municipal subdivisions, and the direct election of delegates to State conventions, with the right of party electors to directly express their preference for nominations for State offices if they so desire.

"We further advocate that the cumbersome method of nomination of independent candidates for offices by petition be simplified so that those who are dissatisfied with the nominations made by regular political parties may have the names of their candidates placed upon the ballot in a less burdensome way."

It is thus apparent that all the political parties in our State are irrevocably committed to these salutary reforms. As a matter of fact all the members of the Legislature are bound by these pledges, and will be false to their promises unless legislation is enacted at this session for electoral reform and a State-wide direct primary.

In my message to the Legislature at the beginning of the year I said: "We are pledged to the principle of direct primary laws State-wide in their scope and character, and I urge the adoption of such amendments as will simplify the procedure and make complete and more effective the direct primary system of the State."

Believing as I do in these reforms I renew my recommendations, and unhesitatingly affirm that nothing will gratify me more than to be able to attach my signature to bills that will give the people of the State the best election laws and the most complete direct primary law possessed by any State in the Union.

It is my opinion that the people of the State are in favor of nominating all candidates for elective office from Governor and United States Senator down to constable. The primary law should be as simple, and as honest, and as practicable, as legislation can make it. Every safeguard now thrown around the ballot box on election day should be invoked to protect the ballot box on primary election day.

The electors can rely on me to favor these changes in our election laws as I shall every other reform to restore the government of the people to the people. I have always claimed that the people can be trusted to conduct their government, and were just as capable of nominating candidates for office as they were of electing candidates to office. In a government such as ours we must rely on the people, and we should legislate in their interest and to promote their welfare.

I know that the people of this commonwealth, in common with the people of our sister States, believe that if they are qualified to choose by their votes on election day governors, judges, senators and congressmen, they are also competent on primary day to nominate these same officials, not some of these officials, but all of them, and I therefore urge the speedy enactment of legislation that will make every candidate for public office the choice of the people.

If it is wise to trust the people with the power to nominate some public officers, I am sure it is wise to trust them with the power to nominate all public officers. I believe it is as wise to trust them to nominate a governor as to trust them to nominate a constable, and as wise to trust them to nominate a judge of the court of appeals as to trust them to nominate a justice of the peace.

The people have been given this power in many other states and they have used it to bring about greatly improved conditions. Let the Empire State put itself in line with the foremost states in all the Union, by favoring nominations by the people, for thus only can we secure a government of the people.

While the main defect in our primary law is that we have not made it applicable to state officers yet there are other defects that we should remedy. Primary ballots in some districts in New York City have been from eleven to fourteen feet in length, and a law placing before an elector on primary day such a ballot as this deserves the ridicule it has received. As long as Assembly Districts are made the unit of representation such ballots will be possible and I recommend that election districts instead of Assembly Districts shall be made the unit of representation.

I also recommend the abolition of all committee designations; the prohibition of the party emblem on primary ballots; the removal of the party circle from the primary ballots; the prohibition of the use of party funds at primary elections; and the establishment of a state committee membership of one hundred and fifty — or one for each Assembly District.

I further recommend reducing the number of names required on a nominating certificate; the authorization of registration on primary day; and a proper limitation of the amount that may be expended by any candidate for the purpose of securing a nomination. The law should also prescribe the expenses which may be lawfully incurred in connection with candidacies for nomination, and should insure the publicity of all expenses.

The enactment of these regulations into law, will, I am confident, permit the voters of the state to construct political organizations from the bottom upwards, instead of permitting them to be constructed from the top downwards. The power which controls organizations is usually the power that controls nominations, and the power which controls nominations is the power which controls public officials.

How vitally important, therefore, that this power should be wielded by the many and not by the few. The changes which I advocate in our primary law are in harmony with the spirit of the times and of democratic institutions. They aim to restore to the people rights and privileges which have been usurped by the few, for the benefit of invisible interests which aim to control governmental officials, to pass laws, to prevent the passage of other laws, and to violate laws with impunity. To these invisible powers I am now, always have been, and always will be opposed.

No government can be free that does not allow all its citizens to participate in the formation and execution of its laws. Every other government is a form of despotism. The political history of recent years illustrates the truth that under the forms of democratic government popular control may be destroyed, and corrupt influences, through political organization, establish a veritable despotism.

That popular government, under God, shall be resurrected and made actual, the Legislature of this State is urged to carry forward the work of reforming our election and primary laws, so that in matters political every man shall count for one and no man shall count for more than one.

Dated, ALBANY, N. Y., April 14, 1913.

ALFRED K. KENNEDY,
Chairman.

Which report was agreed to.

By unanimous consent, Mr. Willmott offered for the consideration of the House a resolution, in the words following:

Whereas, Investigations by sanitarian and public health workers have clearly established these facts, that the diseases arising from stream pollution is cause of much concern to the people of the State and our health authorities because upon the proper regulation of this question depends the lives and health of the people; and,

Whereas, The cause of typhoid fever is traceable to the discharge of sewage and waste into the streams and rivers polluting the waterways to such a degree, becoming a menace to public health; and,

Whereas, Efforts are being constantly made to check this danger by the local health boards in the towns and cities of the State by constructing sewage disposal plants which will to a great extent protect the streams from infected drainage; and,

Whereas, While our State Department of Health may through every effort strive to obliterate the peril, this work can never be fully successful for the reason that the matter as viewed from every angle is an interstate problem, because we have on the west and south two large river systems, the Susquehanna and the Delaware, pollution problems which involve some four states, on the east, we have the Champlain, Hudson and Housatonic systems, which involve the three New England states, Vermont, Massachusetts and Connecticut. We have on the north and west boundary of our State the Great Lakes systems, the drainage area of which includes some nine States and two Canadian Provinces. The pollution of these waters involves, therefore, not only interstate but international problems. Finally we have in the proximity to New York city and Long Island tidal waters, which involve not only interstate questions, but a complexity of governmental or international questions generally with tidal waters; and,

Whereas, Without a uniform code of pollution laws in the several neighboring States with respect to sanitary or domestic sewage and the class of waste which affects public health, little progress can be effected in view of the statutes and policies covering stream pollution in the neighboring States; be it, therefore,

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That this Legislature petition Congress to create a federal authority to solve these interstate problems which affect public health, by establishing a National Department of Health to deal internally with the several States of the Union and to confer internationally with our neighboring provinces north of the Canadian border, and the countries in Gulf zone on the south and in many ways the causes of epidemics of disease might be prevented through Federal supervision in conjunction with State and local authorities, the problem of effacing the deadly perils of infections and contagious disease could best be solved in this way.

Which was referred to the committee on rules.

The bill (No. 2606, Int. No. 505) entitled "An act to amend the Personal Property Law, in relation to conditional sales and enforcement of contracts therefor," was read the second time.

On motion of Mr. McElligott, said bill was placed on the order of third reading and referred to the committee on revision.

The bill (No. 2564, Int. No. 1926) entitled "An act to amend the Legislative Law, in relation to the legislative bill drafting commission," having been announced, Mr. Hinman moved that the committee on rules be instructed to report Assembly bill No. 37 a special order on second and third reading forthwith for the immediate consideration of the House.

Mr. Speaker: The gentleman from Albany cannot make that motion now except by unanimous consent.

Mr. Cuvillier: I object.

Mr. Speaker: A motion to discharge the committee can be made under the order of business of special report of the committee on rules.

Mr. Hinman: I raise the point of order that the rules committee may report at any time and therefore it is in order at any time to make a motion that the rules committee be instructed to make a special order forthwith, or to suspend the rules for the purpose of reading out of order any bill which is now in the hands of the rules committee.

Mr. Speaker: The Chair cannot sustain that point of order. It has been held ever since the Chair can remember that that motion must be made in the regular order of business.
